We have received The British Packet (Buenos Ayres) newspaper to Oct. 11. The dates from Montevideo are to Oct. 5. The Packet says: Our presentiment of last week is verified in part. The rumored negotiations have fallen to the ground. And the latest accounts, though obscure and in some respects contradictory, represent the hostile forces in close contact, and we may therefore repeat, with greater assurance than ever, that an action is imminent and inevitable. nent and inevitable.

Partial skirmishes have been taking place since the way of a retreat, in the event of a reverse. It deserves also to be remarked, that during this apparent retreat, or stratagetical maneuver, the legal forces have manifested a praise-worthy decision and fidelity. Had the tendency to defection, so clamorously alleged by the Comercio, (Montevideo newspaper.) had any real existence, no more favorable opportunity for evincing itself could have been expected or desired. To their honor be it said, there has been no indication of such a tendency; and hence the silence of the Comercio and its dolorous anticipation of carnage and bloodshed. Be the result what it may, we confidently expect on the part of the legal forces a hard-contested action, worthy of themselves and their cause.

According to the version of the Comercio, the Imperial forces have at length reached as far as the Yi, but great ebscurity, not to say doubt, hangs over both their number and position. 200 more German recruis have arrived direct at Montevideo; but any measures against the Cerrito are evidently hopeless without Brazilian artiflery; and they seem in no hurry to join with their republican aliaes. The present state of exciting suspense cannot be of iong duration.

Abstract truths are evolved with a logical precision and historical fidelity, that bespeak a mind habituated to scientific analysis and rigid demonstration; the argument enlivened amon by an oasis of poetic verdue, that recreates the fancy, stimulates and vivines our perceptions, and rivets the memory.

J. Cooper suin—The prosecution had overlooked a small matter vester ay, and they would like a few minutes to call a witness to testify to the fact of Edward Gorsuch having a large quantity of money on his person at the time of his death.

Mr. Stevens objected to it.

Judge Grier said—The fact of a robbery could not affect the prisoner in a trial for treason.

Mr. Cuyler began his opening, by syring—That he congraturated the jury that they had at length arrived at landmarks which assured them that the end of the case could not be far distan. If the testimony for the United States shall have struck the mind of the jury as it has impressed him, they will have come to the conclusion that the presecution have fueled to make out their case entirely. It will have attainshed them, that a charge so grave should have been based upon evidence so feeble, and that the defendant should have been taken from his famuly and friends and confined in a prison on a charge of treason.

Things without precedent have been introduced into the Things without precedent have been introduced into the case. The State of Maryland, with her Attorney-General, has entered it as a private prosecutor, and our own side. District Attorney is set in the back ground. Out of the 92 Jurors who answered to their names, the defendant had but 24 challenges, while the prosecution had made 36. The defense would have been we limp to take any 12 men in the panel, and submit this particular case to them, and relevant of an arguittal. It was never held to be the law, to do more than public justice in the presecution of a cause, and not to press for a conviction where the evidence did not warrant it. ause, and not to pressing out of Maryland pressing on a We have seen here the State of Maryland pressing on a behavior

We have seen here the State of Maryland pressing on a private prosecution to bring about a conviction. We have seen witnesses recalled to make their testimons more perfect, where weakness was discovered, and testimony has been introduced which had no business in the case, to sustain the lie intered from the perjured lips of the witness Kime, where he says that the defendant remained silent when he charged him with urging on the blacks, by ordering them to fire on the officers. You did not believe it true when you heard him assert it. It much the wrong in me to say that Maryland thirsts for the blood of the innocent piscener; but her conduct in the case would seem to warrant it.

I must here take occasion to say a word in reference to my colleagues, and account of the limber to the property of the say as a word in reference to rant it.

I must here take occasion to say a word in reference to my coffeagues and myself. The District Attorney spoke of the duty we owed our Union, and asserted that the particulate in of him who raises it against it should be cut off. We fully enderse it—for we are as much Union men as the entiemen on the other side. We believe that the love of the Union runs through the rational thoughts and feelings.

the Union runs through the national thoughts and feedings of every man in the nation, but we denounce that squeamishness which condense every manly opposition to the assaults upon private rights. We are not here to speak of opposition to the laws, or to attempt to justify opposition. We are here to defend a gentleman from the charge of treason. Maryland appears here distrusting Pennsylvania in the administration of her law, and her desire for justice. The District Attorney charged her with faithlessness to her laws, and asserted the had been reakless to her obligations. We assert that she has always been faithful to the obligations she owes her sister States.

He then went on to review the several acts of Assembly, and set forth the facts upon which they intended to rely for an acquittal.

and set forth the facts upon which they intended to rely for an acquittal.

The witnesses for the defense.

Thes Pennington, affirmed—Mr. Stevens asked him to state any fact which he knew of the carrying away of any negroes at night by hidnapping from the neighborhood of Christians.

Objected to by Mr. Cooper.

Dist. Att. Ashmend stated that this question was collateral to the issue. It was an attempt to show that 9 months before, some person had committed an illegal act. It will not be pretrained that the people who went to arrest Mr. Gorsuch's slaves went there illegally.

Judge Grier-It would have been all right to object if the defendant had been indicted for resisting the officers; but he is here on a charge of treason, which required a combination. The attempt was here to show that an association had taken place long before to resist the illegal acts of kidnappers.

had taken place long before to reas, the firegal acts of knappers.

The United States could prove the defendent's connection with any association to resist the laws of the United Statas, and the other side may show that the combination took place to resist some other not against their rights. The blowing of horns will be argued by the U. S. to show reconcert of action. Now can't the defense show that the horns were blown for some other purpose?

Judge Kame said he differed a little from Judge Grier, but it probably amounted to the same thing. The tegritmate question, he thought, might be, was the same thing pervading the community in that neighborhood, as to induce them to combine to resist the laws of the United States.

induce them to combine to resist the laws of the United States.

Mr. Stevens—The crime of treason consists in the act done and the reasons for doing it. An act might be done which had the ingredients of treason in; but if the reasons for the commission of such acts were legal in themselves, it would not be treason. Some few matters had been given by the prosecution, such as blowing a horn at breakingt, &c., to sustain their case.

When we desire to show that the combination had taken place to repel confessed kidnappers, who furked about that neighborhood, and who made a business of stealing and dealing in human flesh, we certainly can do so. We wint to show that a whole neighborhood were ready to resist an attack such as had been before made upon them. We shall show in time that the acts of defendant while on the ground were honorable, humane and noble.

J. M. Read said, they proposed to begin within a year and show a distinct state of facts occurring in this valley which created a feeling of insecurity in the mind of every white man as well as binck mus, and that these men had a right to go there and see that the persons about to be arrested were alleged forgities, had the legal process for so design.

We desire to show, upon the question of intention, that a right to go there and see that the persons about to be arrested were alleged fogitives, had the legal process for se doing.

We desire to show, upon the question of intention, that the defendant went to the place, merely to see that the law was properly executed. The combination did not extend beyond Sanshury township, where outrares had been committed upon the rights of its citizens a lew knowns prevousity. The house of the son in-law of the witness on the stand rice man abducted. On the defendant going over and finding the officers had legal process, he did not intenfere.

Mr. Ashmend said that his colleague, Mr. Cooper, would discuss the relevancy of the testimony offered to the Court, as the point he (the District Attorney) had taken, has been overruled.

James Cooper—thought the authority cited by his colleague, did not settle the question of time. Lord Holt said that any act, the conspiracy of which began at any time, he act could be given in evidence, where it was connected with the case on trial.

But here was an act committed nine months ago, by third parties, and he could not see its relavancy here. In Prieg's decision, a master would be competent to carry off his slave, when found, and would not be hable for a breach of the peace.

Judge Chier—Not whether you had a right to state the general proposition. The United States had a right to argue a certain intention. They have shown one negro man followed down, and they might argue that he gave information, and that the whole neighborhood had armed to resist the law.

I think it will be proper for this defendant to show that the whole neighborhood had armed to resist what they supposed to be a danger from real kidnappers, who were known to live in that neighborhood, and dealt in stealing human beings.

in at I had son a other intention than alling the Sherin. I consider this act as the greatest security for the colored people.

The witness continues—I resided in the Chester valley in September last; I remember the carrying off of a c. loved man; several men eame to the house and asked my son-in-law if they had chickens to sell; he said not; one of the men looked through the window and saw the black men; they must have seen him; they went away; in a little while a neighbor named James Hay cailed and said that his brother Jehn had fallen down doad, my mother-in-law went to the house of John Ray, and I romained at home, in about an hour or so I heard a knock at the door, when I opened the door two men came in abreast and one asked for the colored man, but not by the name he went by; they came in and others followed; they went to the black man and a struggle ensued; some of the men had pistols; one man had what I took to be a slung-shot, and he struck the light and put it out; my daughter, hearing the noise, came down stairs almost frantic and begred me to go my stairs; I did so, and in a little while the noise subsided; I saw the black man no more; in the morning I traced the blood to the wood, where I saw tracks of carriage wheels: I knew one of the men; he was called Penny Mush.

Cross-cramined by Mr. Coopet—Had heard a report that free blacks were no more secure than slaves; did not know whether the colored man was a slave or not; it has been sad he was from Maryland; the persons who came to take him away did not say he was a slave; they made no statement of any kmd, he had been absent from my son-in-law's some time; went away because he has beard that another colored man had been kidnapped in the neighborhood.

Elijah Lewis, one of the prisoners, was called to the stand.

The Counsel for the United States objected to his exministicut. on the ground that a bill of indectment had been found in which the witness and the defendant are jointly charged with treason.

Mr. Beel abmitted to the Court whether, if Mr. Lewis shall give testimony which shall so put Hannaway, it would not inure to the benefit of Mr Lowis, and whether be is not therefore rendered incompetent. If Hannaway be adjusted, he may be examined in the case of Lowis, for he canced tage to be rised on the charge of treasure over a suit of this transaction. Mr. Break referred is various authorities as evidence to a stain this position.

Judge Giver to Mr. Break-If 100 persons he indic'ed for treasure, could not the Judy adjust a portion and convert a portion.

protons:

Mr. Breet—I do not deny the position.

Judge Grier—Very weil: I want to test your argument.

If the Jury can convict one portion and a quin another, does the insistment of a number render all incompetent as witnesses—all these charged.

Mr. Brent argued that one conspirator connot acquit a confederate, and thus make a witness in his own acquital.

Judge Grier—Can you find any precedent for this—that a cefeadant may be cut out of all testimony by the indictional of all persons supposed to know anything of the nation.

a defendant may be cut out of all testimony by the indicament of all persons supposed to know anything of the matter?

The question was further argued by Messrs Cooper and J. W. Ashmend.

Henry Brooks, Landach him if he would have the time of the occurrence; on the morning of the afracting he levis come along and told that Mr. Parker's house was sorrour deel by kinningers, who wanted to take Parker off; I told Mr. Hannaway; I saked him if he would have his herse, and he said yes; I saw Kline at the mill that morning; he had a conversation with Squire, Pownall, Thempson, Longhead and assert it is mustred the way to Penningtonside, and the said that two non-were wounded, and wanted to get them conversates to that place; Thompson asked him why he staid so low, and got wounded; he replied that he wanted to draw off his men, but they would not come, and he had to go and loave them.

Jacob Whitson, alfarmed—I was on the first day of the week after the riet that Kline and six or seven others came to ny tother's horse and asked if Parlier was there; he sould be had been seen coming in that direction; told him to search if he wanted to, he said that a reward of $10,000 had been offered for his arrest—$5,500 by the Governor of Maryimad and $5,000 by the Governor of Pennsylvania; he raw thim they window, and talked to him 20 minutes; he said he saw him shoot Mr. Gorsuch.

The President's Message-Visit of a Descendant of the Illustrious Founder of Pennsylvania-Treason Trials.
Correspondence of The N. Y. Tribune.
Philadelphia, Tuesday, Dec. 2, 1851.

The weather still remains clear and very cold. Ice to the thickness of four or five inshes was formed last night. Mr. John Godfrey, who was so dreadfully scalded yesterday morning, in consequence of falling into het still slop, died at the Hospital last night.

The great topic of interest to-day in this City is the President's Message and accompanying docu-ments. The Message was delivered to the Press at ments. The Message and accompanying documents. The Message was delivered to the Press at precisely 11 o'clock.

Mr. Granville Penn, a descendant of the illustrious founder of Pennsylvania, is now sojourning at the Washington House in this City. Our citizens have tendered Mr. Penn many civilities.

Two seen, named Samuel Hunter and Hampton Sherlock, were yesterday arrested near the United States Marine Asylum, and committed to prison to answer the charge of rioting.

The present cold snap has effectually closed our State Canals.

Business continues quiet. Bark is but little inquired after. Holders continues to demand $24.50 % tun for No. 1.

CITY ITEMS.

Tw We need make no excuse for the brevity of our Items this morning, nor indeed for many morning's to come. The President of the United States, the Postmaster-General, and other high functionaries, have occupied the hon's share of to-day's Tribune, and documents and reports of great public importance will follow as fast as we can print them. The amount of reading matter which will be sent forth by our own and other City papers within the present and next week, including document from Washington, Kossuth's speeches and movements, will probably far exceed that of any similar

"Let there now read who never read before,
And those who always read, now read the more."

-The President's Message reached The Tribun Office yesterday at 12 minutes before 2 o'clock. At 3 o'clock, precisely, it was published entire in our Second Evening Edition, half an hour ahead of all other City papers. The types were set up in 50 minutes.

The Aldermanic proceedings last night were not momentous.

THE OPERA .- To-night we have the ever popular Semnambula, with a powerful cast.

PUBLIC TRIBUTE IN HONOR OF FENIMORE Course. - The arrangements for a great public meet ing of literary men and others in honor of the late Mr. FENIMORE COOPER have been completed by the Committee appointed for this purpose on a previous occasion. The solemnities will take place in Trip ler Hall on Christmas Eve, the 24th inst. A Com memorative Discourse will be pronounced by Mr. Wn. C. BRYANT, and addresses are expected from EDWARD EVERETT, GEORGE BANCROFT, JOHN P. KENNEDY, Rev. Dr. HAWKS, and other friends and admirers of the genius of the deceased American novelist. Hon. DANIEL WESSTER has been invited to preside at the meeting, and it is understood that he will accept the appointment. The occasion is unique, and will doubtless call together a large and distinguished audience. Not only the limited circle of men of letters by profession and taste, to which class the preparation for the funeral honors has been chiefly entrusted, but thousands of our intelligent population who owe a large debt of gratitude to the illustrious master of fiction, will share in the solemnities, impelled no less by interest in the eminent persons who are announced as speakers. than by reverence and admiration for the memory of the Great Departed.

NIBLO'S .- BENEFIT OF THE DRAMATIC Funn.-To-night one of the greatest events of the theatrical season comes off, and the most distinguished members of the dramatic profession have come forward to make it the gain festival of the year. Signora Steffanone of the Italian opera, Signora Borghese, Signor Vietti, Signor Forti, the wonderful little Miss Patti, Mr. Hamblin, the whole of the Ravel family, Mr. Brougham, Miss Laura Addison, the distinguished tragedienne, Mi-s Hiffert, the favorite vocalist of the Bowery theater, and the four comedians Hadaway. Chippendale, John Sefton and Skerrit, all appear. The performances consist of a Shakspere play, Intermezzo, Dancing by the Miles. Franck, and a Pantomime by Hon, J. Dill, Hor. D. Kilgrove, of

Ohio Hon. A. B. Preston, Eilenville W. R. Osborn, Watervillo, were smong the arriva's at Butta' Hotel, vesterday

THE AZTEC CHILDREN .- Of all the human curiosities that we have ever seen, none is more under this name, have been exhibited in various parts of the country for a year past. We beheld them yesterday for the first time, and with astonishment. They are two in number, one male and one female, small as dwarfs, the boy being only 33 inches tall, but seem not so much the product of accident or discase as genuine Lilliputians. Their persons are perfeetly developed though slight, and their whole ap-pearance is that of a diminutive race. Of their age nothing precise is known, but it is supposed to be oor 12 years. The boy seems like one who have assed his prime. Their physiognomy is strikingly ike that on the Central American Monuments they are of a secret recentared by a tribe of indians in the interior of Central America, and obliged to intermarry till they have dwindled down to this dwarfish stature of mind and body; but it establish his point further evidence is needed. At any rate trey are most interesting phenomena, and there is nothing about them that is repulsive, as is often the case with such wonders. We understand they will soon be exhibited to the public.

GTEAT TELEGRAPIC FEAT. - Mr. Bulkley, the Superintendent of the New-Orleans Telegraph Line has lately invented what he calls a " Connector," by means of which, placed at each station on the line, the operators are enabled to "turn the current of the electricity from their offices, and thus connect the most extreme points." The "Connect ors, by some ingenious mechanism, only fully under-steed by the intelligent and practical inventor, have the effect to renew the magnetic force wherever applied, by which means the great difficulty of writ ing in long circuits is wholly overcome. This invention, therefore, would seem destined to become one of the most important aids in the annihilation of space. We understand that the New-Orleans line, under Mr. B.'s superintendence, has been supplied with there "Connectors," and their practical utility, for the purpose desired, was very satisfactorily tested yesterday, by enabling Mr. Long and his accomplished assistants, in the office in this City, to hold a direct and instantaneous chit-chat with their fellow operators in the office at New-Orleans, a distance by the wires of 2 300 miles. Business men sages were also sent with the same rapidity.
